RESEARCH AREAS

My research focuses on urban politics, informality, food systems, and methods.

Urban Politics: How regulations and the intermediation between local governments and street vendors impact how public space is assigned and contested in Mexico City and San Francisco.

Food Systems: The role of informal outlets in Mexico's food environment.
food environments.

Methods: Mobility of street vendors through location-based data, point pattern analyses of retail data, spatial accessibility metrics, mathematical demography to examine firm dynamics, analyzing heat waves through remote sensing.
